United States Department of Agriculture

When you choose a career with USDA’s Plant Protection and Quarantine, you will protect U.S. farms, forests, and landscapes from damaging invasive pests. We’re looking for problem solvers and innovators who can help us safeguard agriculture and the environment. Join us today!

You’ve always wanted to do great things. Now is your chance!

When you choose a career with USDA’s Plant Protection and Quarantine, you will protect U.S. farms, forests, and landscapes from damaging invasive pests. We’re looking for problem solvers and innovators who can help us safeguard agriculture and the environment. Join us today!

www.aphis.usda.gov/plant_health
Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service
We Hire:

- Botanists, geneticists, entomologists, plant pathologists, and agriculturalists
- Plant health officers, technicians, and safeguarding specialists
- Computer scientists, industrial engineers, global trade analysts, quantitative ecologists, statisticians, and biometricians
- Data analysts, economists, and trade directors
- Management, program, and budget analysts
- Administrative professionals of all types

Explore Current Opportunities:
www.usajobs.gov (search “APHIS”)

We Offer:

- Paid work experience for students with possible conversion without competition to a permanent position when they finish their education, training, and work requirements
- Leadership programs for career development and advancement
- Paid continuing education programs
- Scholarships, mentoring, shadowing assignments, and summer employment
- Networking opportunities
- Recognition incentives, challenges, and rewards
- Special hiring programs for interns, recent graduates, advanced degree candidates, and veterans
- Opportunities to innovate and improve program and organizational processes
- A supportive and collegial work environment
- Domestic and international travel
- Competitive starting pay with regular increases
- Comprehensive and affordable medical benefits and paid medical leave
- Affordable life insurance
- Comprehensive retirement benefits and pension plan
- Family-friendly work and leave policies
- 10 paid Federal holidays and paid vacation leave
- Health, wellness, and fitness programs
- Student Loan Repayment Program

Issued April 2020
Program Aid No. 2262-3
USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.